

THE GETTYSBURG COMPILER, FRIDAY MORNING, JAN. 21, 1870.

Gettysburg Compiler.

FRIDAY, JAN. 21, 1870.

A BILL has passed the Senate to increase the salary of the Governor from five thousand to seven thousand dollars a year. Will Geary veto the bill?

The Mackey organ are sorely elated over the result of the election for State Treasurer. The Pittsburgh Dispatch declared that the whole aspect of affairs at Harrisburg will be changed, and the Democrats will have virtual control of the Legislature. So motto it be.

It is said that Judge Jenkins S. Black will soon make public a statement of occurrences between November and the first inauguration of President Lincoln, concerning the action of Mr. Buchanan's administration to reinforce Fort Sumter, which will command the attention of the whole country.

On Thursday week the Georgia legislature was ordered to take a recess until Monday by Governor, in order that the eligibility of the representative members might be impeded by a board of army officers. And yet the government, selecting such emperors as a greater minister applied to any aspect that had a existence, and there was not a protest in the old world when such an outrage would be attempted.

A Boston gentleman says that it was "Stanton's ambition from a boy to occupy a seat on the bench of the Supreme Court." This he never realized. The "appointment" was never consummated and Stanton was never, therefore, a Judge of the Supreme Court. The sending of his "commission" after his death was a mere mockery, and if antedated, a grand fraud. The new nominee must be named as the successor of Judge Gridley.

It is highly probable that the income tax law will be re-enacted. There are too many officials interested in this system to let it lie at this time. General Grant opened the campaign of the office-holders in his message by suggesting the renewal of the tax on incomes, but at a reduced rate, say of three per cent., and this to expire in three years. This seems to be the stereotyped form in which a permanent income tax is to be drafted and applied upon the people.

That notorious blatherskite New, who "represents" the howling wilderness of Nevada in the United States Senate, stumbled against the wrong man in the Georgia debate, the other day. "The Democrats never went to war," quoth he; and Senator Thurman, of Ohio, thus responded: "Who says that? Why, sir, my own county, with its Democratic majority of three thousand, sent more Delegates to the war than there are voters in the whole State of Nevada." The bushwhacker of the mountains thereupon subsided.

Mr. Dawes, Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, made a very frank speech for a Republican, in the House at Washington, on Tuesday. He arraigned severely the Navy and other Departments for their extravagant demands, and demonstrated that the country has not been managed with economy since General Grant's inauguration, and the comparison of the estimates of the last year of Johnson and the first year of Grant was decidedly unfavorable to the latter. Mr. Dawes evidently sees breakers ahead for his party, and therefore raises his voice thus loudly, "Our late Radicalism must go down—or the country will."

The gallant Democracy of New Hampshire who have fought yearly against powerful odds in the shape of rich corporations and government patronage, but who came to the scratch every time, held their State Convention week before last, and nominated candidates for the March election. General John Beloit was nominated for Governor, and Gen. Michael T. Donahoe for Railroad Commissioner—both by acclamation and with three cheers. The candidates were brave soldiers in the late war and won their stars by hard fighting. With a proper canvass, the two generalists, to overcome the twenty-five hundred Radical majority in the State,

BORON ON GRAY.—The Philadelphia Post seems resolved to place Geary in his true light before the people of Pennsylvania. It says:

"The government see to it, that with his position, who tempts with the party of elections. This is after he is elected for three years. But did not Geary himself? Did he not tamper with the right of electing last fall when he made his secret ballot with the master politicians of the city, and shamelessly broke his word to the people?"

VIIRGINIA IN THE SENATE.—The House passed the bill to admit Virginia on Friday, and it was sent to the Senate. On Monday the Senate bill on the same subject was laid on the table in that body, and the House bill taken up. Mr. Morrill opposed it with vehemence, and asserted his fear that the Republican party was committing suicide. Mr. Davis, of Ky., interjected the remark that "the Republican party's inclination to commit suicide was because it felt it ought to be hung without action in the Senate adjourned."

On Wednesday, he told him, his position was that he was not the man to be put in; that the party of elections had been done over. The thing that Geary did to secure his nomination and election are but partly known, but enough is known to be placed on what Radical paper, say just before an election. The Post did all that lay in its power to depict the very man it now condemns so bitterly, and so the Radical majority in the State.

Why didn't the Post tell the truth while the campaign was going on? What is the use of blowing after the mischief has been done? Let the people learn from this how little reliance is to be placed on what Radical paper, say just before an election.

The Pittsburgh Dispatch, an able and influential Radical journal, has the manhood to acknowledge the correctness of the position long ago assumed by the Democrat that a State has the right to withdraw her agent given by a previous legislature to the ratification of a constitutional amendment at any time previous to its ratification by the requisite number (three-fourths) to give it validity. A few months ago this position was most stoutly defended by the Radical press generally, and some of them still persist in their error. Hence the outspoken frankness of the Dispatch is the more welcome.

Mr. PAUL SCHROEDER has had published in the Baltimore Worker, a German newspaper, a statement to the effect that he is not the same Dr. Schreiber mentioned by Dr. Gmelin, in his letter from Berlin, as having been impeached in the City for forgery. Mr. Wallace went to him after.

Mr. Mackey was nominated by the Radicals, and said that if he (Mackey) could procure enough Republicans to form a majority in the Legislature, he would organize the Democracy for him.

Two words about either the Senate or the House of Representatives. The former has a very bold, a very able and a very bad man. But he is beyond the reach of these whose forefathers are made less happy by his acts, and he has paid the debt of nature with his life. The leader of this party is a good man, and he does not think he is the man allowed to be the ascended fire. In fact,

Four BACHELORS. In a Vermont town have bought a few together, the one first married to be the sole owner.

ADMISSION OF VIRGINIA.

Mr. Blighson's bill for the immediate admission of Virginia passed the House of Representatives on Friday by a vote of 112 to 99. The following is the text of the bill, without the preamble: "Be it enacted, &c., that the said State of Virginia is entitled to representation in the Congress of the United States."

The Mackey organ are sorely elated over the result of the election for State Treasurer. The Pittsburgh Dispatch declared that the whole aspect of affairs at Harrisburg will be changed, and the Democrats will have virtual control of the Legislature. So motto it be.

It is said that Judge Jenkins S. Black will soon make public a statement of occurrences between November and the first inauguration of President Lincoln, concerning the action of Mr. Buchanan's administration to reinforce Fort Sumter, which will command the attention of the whole country.

On Thursday week the Georgia legislature was ordered to take a recess until Monday by Governor, in order that the eligibility of the representative members might be impeded by a board of army officers. And yet the government, selecting such emperors as a greater minister applied to any aspect that had a existence, and there was not a protest in the old world when such an outrage would be attempted.

A Boston gentleman says that it was "Stanton's ambition from a boy to occupy a seat on the bench of the Supreme Court." This he never realized. The "appointment" was never consummated and Stanton was never, therefore, a Judge of the Supreme Court. The sending of his "commission" after his death was a mere mockery, and if antedated, a grand fraud. The new nominee must be named as the successor of Judge Gridley.

It is highly probable that the income tax law will be re-enacted. There are too many officials interested in this system to let it lie at this time. General Grant opened the campaign of the office-holders in his message by suggesting the renewal of the tax on incomes, but at a reduced rate, say of three per cent., and this to expire in three years. This seems to be the stereotyped form in which a permanent income tax is to be drafted and applied upon the people.

That notorious blatherskite New, who "represents" the howling wilderness of Nevada in the United States Senate, stumbled against the wrong man in the Georgia debate, the other day. "The Democrats never went to war," quoth he; and Senator Thurman, of Ohio, thus responded: "Who says that? Why, sir, my own county, with its Democratic majority of three thousand, sent more Delegates to the war than there are voters in the whole State of Nevada." The bushwhacker of the mountains thereupon subsided.

Mr. Dawes, Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, made a very frank speech for a Republican, in the House at Washington, on Tuesday. He arraigned severely the Navy and other Departments for their extravagant demands, and demonstrated that the country has not been managed with economy since General Grant's inauguration, and the comparison of the estimates of the last year of Johnson and the first year of Grant was decidedly unfavorable to the latter. Mr. Dawes evidently sees breakers ahead for his party, and therefore raises his voice thus loudly, "Our late Radicalism must go down—or the country will."

BORON ON GRAY.—The Philadelphia Post seems resolved to place Geary in his true light before the people of Pennsylvania. It says:

"The government see to it, that with his position, who tempts with the party of elections. This is after he is elected for three years. But did not Geary himself? Did he not tamper with the right of electing last fall when he made his secret ballot with the master politicians of the city, and shamelessly broke his word to the people?"

VIIRGINIA IN THE SENATE.—The House passed the bill to admit Virginia on Friday, and it was sent to the Senate. On Monday the Senate bill on the same subject was laid on the table in that body, and the House bill taken up. Mr. Morrill opposed it with vehemence, and asserted his fear that the Republican party was committing suicide. Mr. Davis, of Ky., interjected the remark that "the Republican party's inclination to commit suicide was because it felt it ought to be hung without action in the Senate adjourned."

On Wednesday, he told him, his position was that he was not the man to be put in; that the party of elections had been done over. The thing that Geary did to secure his nomination and election are but partly known, but enough is known to be placed on what Radical paper, say just before an election.

The Pittsburgh Dispatch, an able and influential Radical journal, has the manhood to acknowledge the correctness of the position long ago assumed by the Democrat that a State has the right to withdraw her agent given by a previous legislature to the ratification of a constitutional amendment at any time previous to its ratification by the requisite number (three-fourths) to give it validity. A few months ago this position was most stoutly defended by the Radical press generally, and some of them still persist in their error. Hence the outspoken frankness of the Dispatch is the more welcome.

Mr. PAUL SCHROEDER has had published in the Baltimore Worker, a German newspaper, a statement to the effect that he is not the same Dr. Schreiber mentioned by Dr. Gmelin, in his letter from Berlin, as having been impeached in the City for forgery. Mr. Wallace went to him after.

Mr. Mackey was nominated by the Radicals, and said that if he (Mackey) could procure enough Republicans to form a majority in the Legislature, he would organize the Democracy for him.

Four BACHELORS. In a Vermont town have bought a few together, the one first married to be the sole owner.

LETTER FROM HARRISBURG.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 19, 1870.
Sir:—Enclosed—will you kindly inform me when the next session of the Legislature will be convened? The Legislature adjourned on the 19th of March last, in the chancery of the United Brethren, in Dauphin county, that county, in order to avoid disturbance and confusion, during the session of the trustees of the congregation had established a rule that all persons leaving the house before the conclusion of the service, should retire into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the result proved that their efforts and good-will were insufficient to save the entire power and corrupt influence of the "ring" in the church. As far as I can judge, the "ring" was long and bitter, and many midnight hours were consumed by the Republians in devising means to drive into the "ring" disengaged themselves. But the

